

There was a large house.
Some mice were living in this house.
They came out of their hole in the night
and ate the food in the dining room.
They were happy.
But they were also afraid.

There was a big cat in the house.
The cat came silently, jumped on to one of the mice and ran away with it.
No one knew who will get caught to the cat next.

(C) Sumitha Publishers

This is why the mice were afraid.