

(C) Sumitha Publishers

Once a blind man went to see a friend in a far away village.

The two friends talked happily for a long time.

In the evening, the blind man got ready to go back.

His friend said,

“Friend, it’s very dark now.
I will give you a lantern.”

“A lantern? What for? I can’t see”
said the blind man.

“Yes, you can’t see.
But when you carry it,
others will see you”
said the friend.

(C) Sumitha Publishers