

A brahmin was walking in the forest.
He saw a tiger caught in a cage.

Seeing the brahmin,
the tiger called out to him.

“Oh Brahmin,
please take me out of this cage.”

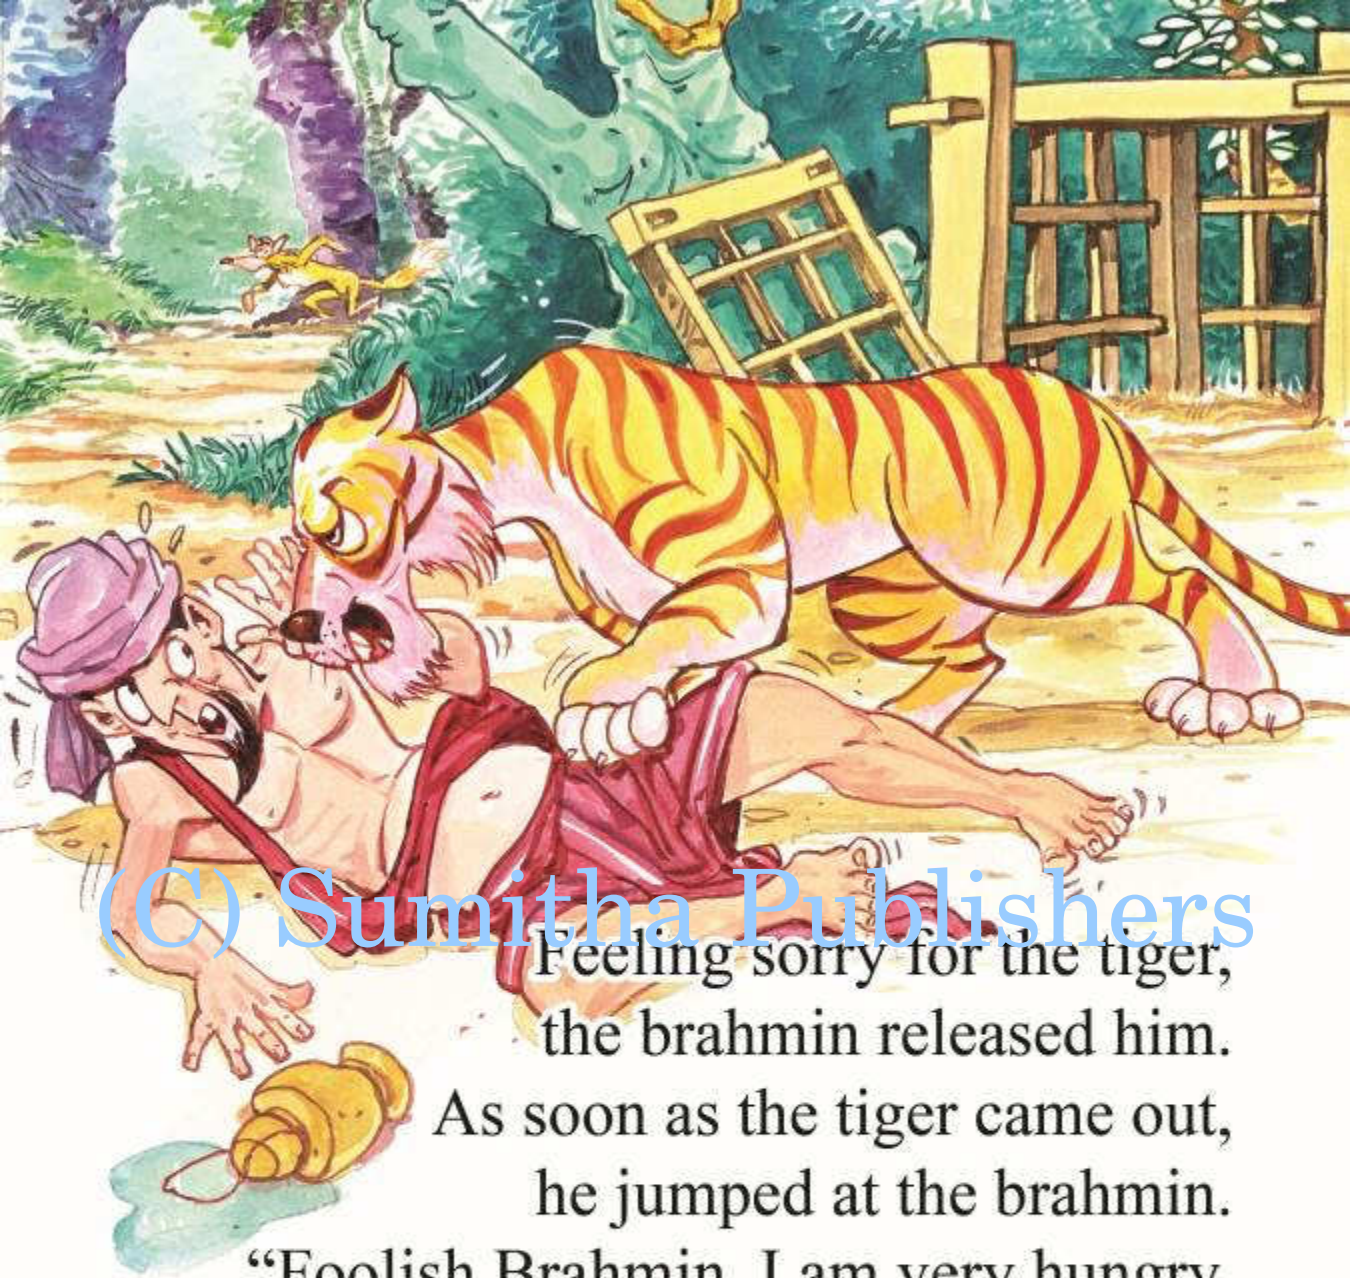

(C) Sumitha Publishers

“Oh no, I cannot.

Then you would eat me” said the brahmin.

“No..No.. I don’t eat flesh any more”
promised the tiger.

Feeling sorry for the tiger,
the brahmin released him.
As soon as the tiger came out,
he jumped at the brahmin.
“Foolish Brahmin, I am very hungry.
I will eat you now” he said.

“This is not fair.
Let’s ask someone” said the brahmin.
The tiger agreed.