Henry Steele Olcott

was born on second August 1832 in Orange, New Jersey, USA. His father and mother, Henry Wycoff Olcott and Emily Atty Steele, belonged to an old Protestant English family that had lived in America for many generations.

Olcott was the oldest among six other children and grew up carefree in New Jersey. Olcott loved and respected his parents very much.

From his young days, Olcott loved agriculture. As a teenager, he joined the College of the City of New York and studied agriculture. Then, he joined university to further his interests.

After some time...

Son, my business is doing badly. I am unable to pay for your tuition.

Isn't there anyway I could complete my studies?
